Ph.D. IN URBAN STUDIES PROGRAM

The Doctor of Philosophy in Urban Studies degree program is an interdisciplinary program within the College of Liberal Arts, Education and Human Development that enables students of exceptional ability to undertake advanced study and original research in the fields of urban affairs, urban history, urban planning, urban anthropology. The program's mission is to prepare students for careers in scholarly activity, applied research, and policy analysis.

The Ph.D. in Urban Studies program provides graduates with a solid foundation for pursuing careers in academia or to engage in advanced policy analysis and applied research outside of academic settings. Upon successful completion of the program, students will have mastered the literature and theory in a particular area of scholarship as well as the research skills necessary to make significant and original contributions in their respective fields. Students enrolled in the program draw upon the expertise of faculty members working in the areas of anthropology, history, sociology, public administration, and planning, among others.

PLUS: WHO WE ARE

The Planning and Urban Studies (PLUS) Department at UNO prepares students for the challenge of shaping urban and regional change locally, throughout the country and around the globe. PLUS is where art and science converge as we teach urban design, scientific research and public policy. The department fulfills the university-wide mission to improve the quality of life throughout the New Orleans region. Our faculty works with federal, state, and local governments, non profits and businesses. Our hands-on program encourages students to get involved in their community and to gain skills that will aid them in the field to affect change.
