FACULTY DEVELOPMENT INITIATIVES

Summer 2022

Faculty Learning Community

- Peer-led, cross-disciplinary group of faculty members engaged in an active, collaborative project to provide professional development, support, and reflection around a specific pedagogical topic in theory and practice.
- This summer's FLC collaborated on research, discussion and plans for practice in inclusive teaching and assessment.

Quality Matters Teaching Online Certificate Cohort

- Seven asynchronous workshops that include competencies aligned with QM's Online Instructor Skill Set.
- Faculty Affairs sponsored four faculty members in the 11-week program.

These faculty members will share their experiences during the 9:30 a.m. Breakout Session at Faculty & Staff Convocation in the UC on August 26, and in other events over the academic year.

INTRODUCTION TO MOODLE

All faculty and instructors are enrolled in Moodle training courses on your Moodle dashboard. Use them as both a tutorial and a reference throughout the semester.

Your students have a similar Moodle training for students. We suggest you direct your students to look through these tutorials, as well.

Access Moodle through your MyApps page – myapps.uno.edu. You will find Zoom there as well.

WHAT'S NEXT?

- Upcoming Workshops
 - Half hour “Quick Bites” on subjects like using Moodle Activities
 - Longer discussions on subjects like inclusivity, UDL, and efficacy of traditional testing/grading
- Check our website at cti.uno.edu throughout the semester for updates on training and events or, better yet, to subscribe to our email listserv.
