

Languages

12 hours (or equivalency exam) in Spanish, French, or Portuguese.

Course Distribution Requirements

The BAIS requires 24 hours of course work in the student's chosen concentration. 3 hours of that course work must include IS 4998 (International Studies Internship), and students are required to take either HIST 2401 or 2402 (they may take both) and either POLI 4700 or 4705 (they may take both). 12 hours must be taken in courses that are 2000-level or above. In addition, the concentration of 24 hours plus the 7 hours of electives must include 15 hours of course work in the social sciences. Students may only take up to 9 of the 21 credits in any single discipline.

The Latin American and Caribbean Studies concentration includes the following courses:

Anthropology

ANTH 3315 Caribbean Peoples and Cultures: Colonialism, Creolization, Diaspora
ANTH 3320 Amazonia: People, Culture, and Nature
ANTH3330 Latin America conquest, Colonization, Empire

English

ENGL 4093 Studies in Black Literatures

History

HIST 2400 Introduction to Latin American History
HIST4105: Women & Slavery in the Americas
HIST 4401 Latin American Cities
HIST 4403 History of Mexico
HIST 4406 Caribbean Civilization

Political Science:

POLI 4700 Latin American Government and Politics
POLI 4710 Politics of Developing Areas
POLI 4780 Comparative Democratization

Spanish

SPAN 3271 Spanish-American Civilization
SPAN 3402 Masterpieces of Spanish and Spanish-American Literature in Translation
SPAN 4180 : Modern Literature in Spanish
SPAN 4203 Spanish-American Civilization I
SPAN 4204 Spanish-American Civilization II

BAIS CONCENTRATION IN LATIN AMERICAN AND CARIBBEAN STUDIES

The BAIS concentration in Latin American & Caribbean Studies is designed to educate students with a broad and deep understanding of the history, culture, politics, and society of Latin America and the Caribbean region.

The concentration prepares students for careers in international business, law, economic development, journalism education, and social services. The Latin American & Caribbean Studies concentration also provides an excellent foundation for graduate work in Latin American & Caribbean Studies or within a particular social science discipline.

BAIS CONCENTRATION IN LATIN AMERICAN AND CARIBBEAN STUDIES

The BAIS concentration in Latin American & Caribbean Studies is designed to educate students with a broad and deep understanding of the history, culture, politics, and society of Latin America and the Caribbean region.

The concentration prepares students for careers in international business, law, economic development, journalism education, and social services. The Latin American & Caribbean Studies concentration also provides an excellent foundation for graduate work in Latin American & Caribbean Studies or within a particular social science discipline.

Languages

12 hours (or equivalency exam) in Spanish, French, or Portuguese.

Course Distribution Requirements

The BAIS requires 24 hours of course work in the student's chosen concentration. 3 hours of that course work must include IS 4998 (International Studies Internship), and students are required to take either HIST 2401 or 2402 (they may take both) and either POLI 4700 or 4705 (they may take both). 12 hours must be taken in courses that are 2000-level or above. In addition, the concentration of 24 hours plus the 7 hours of electives must include 15 hours of course work in the social sciences. Students may only take up to 9 of the 21 credits in any single discipline.

The Latin American and Caribbean Studies concentration includes the following courses:

Anthropology

ANTH 3315 Caribbean Peoples and Cultures: Colonialism, Creolization, Diaspora

ANTH 3320 Amazonia: People, Culture, and Nature

ANTH3330 Latin America conquest, Colonization, Empire

English

ENGL 4093 Studies in Black Literatures

History

HIST 2400 Introduction to Latin American History

HIST4105: Women & Slavery in the Americas

HIST 4401 Latin American Cities

HIST 4403 History of Mexico

HIST 4406 Caribbean Civilization

Political Science:

POLI 4700 Latin American Government and Politics

POLI 4710 Politics of Developing Areas

POLI 4780 Comparative Democratization

Spanish

SPAN 3271 Spanish-American Civilization

SPAN 3402 Masterpieces of Spanish and Spanish-American Literature in Translation

SPAN 4180 : Modern Literature in Spanish

SPAN 4203 Spanish-American Civilization I

SPAN 4204 Spanish-American Civilization II